

Drawing Dice

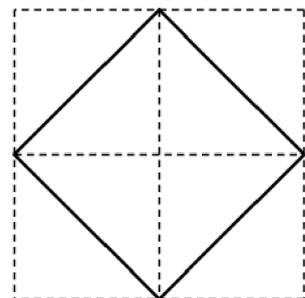

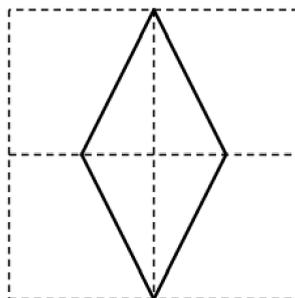

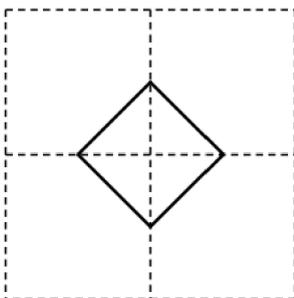

What is the relationship between these two figures? Which one is bigger?

Tip:

You can ask them to construct them first.

What is the relationship between these three figures?

Can you build figures with some kind of symmetry?

The figure on the left has rotational symmetry. The figure on the right has reflection symmetry. The middle figure has both.

How many different figures can you form with these dice having some kind of symmetry?

